LUND UNIVERSITY

FACULTY OF MEDICINE

One last task

Your final task is to write a reflective text which schold be shared and discussed with your main supervisor. You are also encouraged to share the text with your co-supervisor and to save all your reflections in relevant parts of your portfolio.

The reflective text should be based on the questions listed below. If relevant, you can re-use some of the text(s) you wrote earlier in the course saved in you “goodie bag”.

Your reflective text should encompass 1-2 pages of text in Time New Roman 12 pt. Base your text on the following questions:

1. What are your motives for following the PhD program?
2. Find the national degree outcomes for the PhD program on Intramed. Which of the ten degree outcomes do you think will be most challenging for you to achieve? To which portfolio category is this outcome linked? Motivate your choice.
3. What kind of support do you expect from your supervisors?
4. What do you think your supervisors expect from you?
5. How would you like to work with the ISP, together with your supervisor?
6. How do you plan to work with your portfolio during the PhD program?

Once you have shared and discussed the text with your main supervisor, the two of you are to fill in the form “Certificate of completion of Introduction to PhD studies".

By signing the form, your main supervisor certifies that you have completed the E-learning course “Introduction to PhD Studies”, including the final reflective task described above. The signed formed is to be submitted to the PhD Studies Office at the latest before you start the Research School in Medical Science.

Good luck on your final task!
